Items can be sold on consignment in the gallery and or the shop

Members are entitled to display and sell art and craft items in the gallery and shop and displays held in local shopping centres. When displaying and selling it is a requirement to perform a duty. The location of the duty depends if the items are displayed and sold at the gallery or shop or a shopping centre display.

All works submitted to The Artisans' Guild of Caboolture and District Inc (hereafter referred to as the association) are for sale on a commission basis. Commission on sales is 15%. These rates apply on each item sold. If for any reason a member has been unable to carry out their duty the commission on sales is 25%.

Commission charged by the Artisans' Guild will be as stated in the Bylaws.

The Gallery only is fitted with a monitored security system. The Artisans' Guild will not be held responsible for any loss or damage to any works left for sale on commission. The owner of the works submitted should contact their own insurers to extend insurance coverage whilst on display in the Gallery or the shop.

All efforts will be made to sell works on consignment; however, the Artisans' Guild cannot guarantee that any particular work will be displayed for sale. Works not displayed will be stored in a secure area until required or collected by the owner. The Art and Craft Coordinators are responsible for the selection and arrangement of works displayed.

New member information pack:

Be sure to pick up your pack when paying your new membership at the gallery or shop.

Guild activities:

Meetings are held monthly in the gallery at 9:30am on the second Wednesday of the month.

A newsletter is published monthly and emailed to all members and copies are available at the Gallery and Shop.

Various working together groups meet most days of the week in the gallery and new members are welcome to attend at a cost of $3 each. Check the calendar of events or the newsletter or the Working Together Groups flyer.

The annual art and craft exhibition is the highlight of our year. It has been held in October in recent years.

Lessons and workshops are arranged with qualified tutors to enable members to expand their knowledge and improve skills.

Outside groups are invited to attend morning tea at the gallery for a small fee. Members provide the morning tea and visitors meet the members and view items on display.

The City of Moreton Bay has generously supported the association in establishing the Burpengary East Community and Cultural Complex

Insurance:

The association has public liability insurance and the limit of liability is $20,000,000.
